“Mayor’s Night In” #2 Is Another Big Hit

Cincinnati – Mayor Mark Mallory hosted another big crowd at his City Hall Office tonight for the second Mayor’s Night In. The entire two-hour schedule for Tuesday evening’s event filled up quickly as citizens again lined up early to reserve a spot to speak with the Mayor. Mallory’s Mayor’s Night In initiative is designed to set aside time for the Mayor to have one-on-one meetings with citizens.

“By any measure, Mayor’s Night In has been a success,” Mayor Mallory said. “There is a lot of excitement and optimism about the future of Cincinnati. I have been trying to change the tone at City Hall and make people feel more welcome. Citizens are responding. I want people to have the sense that things can get done at City Hall and that we are listening to their concerns.

At the two Mayor’s Nights In, Mayor Mallory has had over 50 meetings with over 100 individuals. Like last time, citizens had a wide variety of issues and concerns that they wanted to share with the Mayor.

“In order to change the atmosphere at City Hall, we must start by changing people’s perception of City Hall,” Mayor Mallory said. “My vision is a City Hall where citizens work in partnership with the government to move the city forward.”

The next Mayor’s Night In is scheduled for Tuesday, March 7 from 5:00 pm to 7:00 pm. Citizens may sign up beginning at 4:30 on the day of the event. The meetings will begin at 5:00 pm and will be scheduled in the order that people sign-in. Each meeting will be for a limited amount of time.
